TWO LIVING THEIR DREAMS

Designer Martin Steiningger meets friends, colleagues, personalities from the business world, creative and design scene. Entertaining conversations and emotional interviews with characters who couldn't be more different and yet have a lot in common. The burning for one's own cause and the passion for architecture & design!

In this episode, the chief designer visits a very special couple. Both traveled the world in their careers as top athletes and lived, more or less, out of their suitcases. A couple who complement each other perfectly and have created their own personal retreat.

Anna and Manuel Veith are living their dream, which, as she says, they both imagined a long time ago.

The focal point of your dream home is made of concrete: a design kitchen from the STEININGER manufactory.
